Distribution method.

The Energy Report is a monthly journal that is published the third Friday of each month. It is directly delivered to roughly 35,000 subscribers of the Observer-Reporter, while also being bulk dropped at local hotels and retail outlets throughout our region.

Local content.

We've partnered with the Washington County Chamber of Commerce and Washington County Tourism to produce this educational publication with a broad energy focus. We dive into the science behind the development of natural gas, coal, wind and solar energy in our region. We talk with local businesses and residents affected by the energy boom. You meet local people working in the industry and we connect our readers with energy companies that are hiring in our market. The Energy Report covers regional tourism opportunities; explore a broad range of land owner questions and so much more.

Connected partners.

Observer-Reporter, Washington County Chamber of Commerce, Washington County Tourism, the Marcellus Shale Coalition and the Energy Capital of the East.

This publication will publish the 3rd Friday of every month
